STATUTORY DECLARATION OF RTI ACT

St. Michael College of Engineering & Technology, St. Santhiagappar Nagar, Kalayar koil – 630551, Sivaganga District, Tamil Nadu thus makes a legal statement that it practices right to data for residents to tie down admittance to data heavily influenced by open specialists, to advance straightforwardness and responsibility in the working of each and every public power, the constitution of a Focal Data Commission and State Data Commissions and for issues associated therewith or coincidental thereto under Segment 4 (1) (b) of the RTI Act 2005 as given and revised occasionally.

The RTI law:

The Parliament passed the Right to Information Act, 2005 (Act No. 22 of 2005), which took effect on June 15, 2005. In order to encourage transparency and accountability in the operations of every public authority, this Act grants citizens the right to access information that is under their control. Under the terms of this Act, a university or college is considered a public authority if it is owned directly or indirectly by funds provided by the government, established by law or notification from the appropriate government, or established by law.

While some of the provisions of this act went into effect immediately upon its enactment (on June 15, 2005), other provisions will take 100 or 120 days to take effect. All colleges and schools are subsequently encouraged to painstakingly go through this Demonstration and make important strides for execution of different arrangements including proactive divulgence of specific sort of data. The concerned university or college is responsible for making this information available to the general public via its website.
